

Revenue Management & Monetization for Telco Cloud Services

If you're tired of the costly investment in staff resources, as well as long lead-times and significant IT intervention to customize and manage your legacy back-office systems, now is the time to consider a modern cloud-based revenue management and monetization (RM&M) solution.

BillingPlatform provides the tools telco cloud service providers need to unleash the power of innovation. BillingPlatform offers low/no code design tools, the ability to integrate with key systems and streamline your quote-to-cash processes.

With built-in automation for all critical functions like CPQ, data mediation, billing, invoicing and revenue recognition, all in a single solution, you can easily deliver complex business models with subscription and usage-based products and services to grow your business.

As the industry leading cloud-based solution, our platform accelerates growth with out-of-the-box configuration capabilities to put telco cloud service providers in control of how they manage and grow their revenue.
