About Thunes

Thunes is a global payments infrastructure provider, making cross-border payments and collections as simple as local money transfers. Thunes manages transactional-based pricing for both subscriptions and commission based billing. The company needed a vendor to expand their billing and collections capabilities on a global scale, including the way they price and quote.

Thunes' Business Objectives

- Automate billing processes to improve efficiency
- Enable flexible and configurable inputs for billing, rewards and promotional rebate structures
- Focus on B2B enterprise customers with large invoicing requirements

BillingPlatform's Solution

- Automates all unique business requirements and complex billing needs to support growth
- Provides a configurable and flexible platform to support complex billing requirements including formula-based pricing
- Future-proof solution to manage changing business requirements
